DAYS OF REGISTRATION:

June 6, 7, 13 and 14 at all Voting Places.

The primaries in the Sixth District will be held to-morrow and the district convention will assemble at Carrollton next Monday, to nominate a Congressman. There are now but seven candidates, viz: Judge James O'Hara and Theodore F. Hallam, of Kenton; Col. A. S. Berry and Col. George Washington, of Campbell; Capt. A. J. DeJarnette and M. D. Gray, of Grant; and John S. Gaunt, of Carroll. It is quite likely that the nominee will come from one of the county counties and Gaunt seems to have the best showing. The election is June 21.

Oregon held her regular State election on June 2 and the result of 1888 was duplicated. The Republicans re-elected the Congressman by 8,000 or 9,000 majority but the Democrats held their own bravely in a Republican stronghold and re-elected the head of the ticket, Gov. Penney by 3,500 in this year of Democratic landslides, the Republicans are congratulating themselves that they got out with a dog-fall, although they claimed the earth before the election.

Gov. Buckner failed to do himself any credit by roll-calling and staying up all night with the boys in the late convention. He held a proxy from Pike county and went into the convention as a pronounced Adams man, and in the defeat of Maj. Adams, a black-eye in a certain sense given to the Governor, who espoused his cause.

The House Committee on Elections has assumed judicial functions and declared the South Carolina registration law to be unconstitutional, in its report on the Miller vs. Elliott contest. Some sort of pretext had to be given for counting out a member whose majority ran up into the thousands.

Col. Bill Yost has been declared the party nominee by the Democratic committee and the convention to be held at Bowling Green June 11 will not come off. Judges Lewis and Barbour were both re-nominated in the same way, without the formality of holding conventions.

Dr. G. W. Norman, of Henderson, the Journal says, has made up his mind not to become a candidate for Congress. This is a wise conclusion. Mr. Ellis deserves endorsement this time without opposition and Dr. Norman can afford to wait awhile.

Gen. John B. Castleman is now chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, with headquarters at Louisville. Urey Woodson, of Owensboro, is the Second district member of the Executive committee.

Lawrence Barrott has returned from Europe thoroughly cured of the affliction that compelled him to leave stage some months ago. He will begin playing again with Booth in November.

Hon. John Young Brown will shortly take the stump for Longmoor and the Democratic ticket.

In view of the well-known fact that no man of the so-called tin whiskies are but a vile compound of Essential Oils and common rectified spirits, producing mixtures totally unfit for consumption, we deem it proper to call the attention of consumers to the fact that J. W. Harper's Mignon County, Ky., Whiskey, which is absolutely pure, is made from fine selected grain and fully matured by age. Sole agents, Edmundson & Long, Hopkinsville, Ky.

THE CRAFT.

Editor Dan O'Sullivan's libel case with Maj. Sanders has been set for June 20.

Col. J. G. Coko, of the Herald, is hot on the trail of the Democratic nomination for Constitution delegate in Logan county. It will be decided June 16.

The indications point to a small attendance at the Press Convention on the 25th. It is now almost time for the editors to begin to make their arrangements to go, but as yet the program has not even been made public and the whole thing seems to be characterized by a complete absence of interest. The trouble is there is no Urey Woodson in Winchester to take charge of the meeting and work it up.

The press which has just been discarded by the Dahlonega (Ga.) Signal is one of the oldest presses in the south, having been in use since 1786. — Clarksville Progress.

THE KENTUCKIAN has a Washington press which has quite a history, though it cannot antedate that of the Signal. It was in constant use in this city in 1866, when Pierce and King and Scott and Graham made the race for President and Vice President, and for many years before that time. The Kentucky Patriot, the Rifle, and the Mercury were printed on it afterwards up to the beginning of the war. During the war it was used for doing the printing of both Federal and Confederate commanders at this place. Generals Clark, Tilman, Johnson and others had their "general orders" printed on it, as did also Gen. E. H. Murray and other Federal officers who were in command of the forces stationed here at different times during the "unpleasantness." When General John H. Morgan swooped down on the town so unexpectedly half a dozen of his soldier printers took up their quarters in the Mercury office and printed the Vidette on this same old press. After the war it passed into the hands of the founder of the Conservative and it was used for printing that paper. The name of the paper was changed to the Democrat in 1876, and then to the South Kentuckian. Others besides the seven different papers mentioned have been printed on this press, but their names are not now to be remembered. Congressmen, preachers, men in the profession of the law, medicine, etc. have worked off their "tokens" on it, and it is today a good press, though too slow to use in printing a large edition like that of the KENTUCKIAN. Could the time of its manufacture be ascertained it would probably date back something like a century. It is looked upon with reverence by those who know its history, and is good for many years of usefulness to come.

MACE DONIA.

After a long silence, I will try to give a few brief items from this section of the county.

News items are very scarce. Our farmers are more behind with their farm work than I have ever known them at this season of the year, many of them having just commenced planting corn.

There are some good fields of wheat in this section which bid fair for a fine yield, while others are not so good. As a rule those who sowed late will reap the best harvest this year.

Some of our farmers complain that a little blue house is making sad havoc with the oats crop, which will be almost a failure in some instances. The peach crop will be almost but not an entire failure, while unless something befalls the apples, the crop will be a beautiful one. Most small fruits promise a fair yield.

A great many of our farmers have made no preparations for a tobacco crop, but those who contemplate planting the weed have plants about ready for the hill. Some in fact have commenced setting.

Mr. Fields Blanchard died at his home, in the vicinity of Cranmer's school house, a few days ago, of pneumonia fever. Mr. Blanchard was a good citizen and leaves many friends to mourn his loss.

Cataract Can't be Cured

with local Applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Cataract is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Cataract cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Cataract Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonic known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing cataract. Send for testimonials.

Hon. W. V. Lucas, Ex-State Auditor of Iowa, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family and have no hesitation in saying it is an excellent remedy. I believe it is all that is claimed for it. Persons afflicted by a cough or cold will find it a friend." There is no danger from whooping cough when this remedy is freely given. 50 cent bottles for sale by Buckner Leavell.

COMMON PLEAS COURT.

E. A. West vs. E. B. Moans. Motion of defendant to dismiss overruled. W. M. Butler vs. Perkins & Driver. Demurrer as to jurisdiction overruled and appeal to Superior Court granted. Young & Gunn vs. A. V. Long's Ex'r. Judgment for $500.

W. T. Ingram, etc. vs. Christian Co. Union Turnpike Co. Verdict for defendant.

R. Y. Pondleton, Ex'r. Annie E. Pondleton, vs. F. B. Richardson. Judgment for plaintiff.

Springfield Fire and Marine Insurance Co. vs. Hicks & Mercer, verdict for plaintiff.

S. J. West's adm'r. vs. B. D. Moore, continued.

R. C. Rives' adm'r. vs. J. L. and W. A. Wills, appeal, judgment for appellant for $102.50.

J. J. Nixon vs. Frank O'Stein, appeal, continued.

J. R. Grant vs. L. & N. Railroad, verdict for plaintiff for $725.

Chas. Brackridge vs. P. M. Reese, appeal, verdict for defendant.

John Jordan vs. Samantha Jordan, dismissed without prejudice.

Ben Allen vs. J. W. Yancey, verdict for defendant.

Seven cases were stricken from the docket and twenty-seven other cases continued for various reasons.

Peter Postell, colored, and W. H. Butler were excused from further jury service at this term and D. M. Taylor and Ben Lacy were summoned in their stead.

Court will adjourn to-morrow after a five weeks' session. Much work has been done at this term and the docket is now well up. Several cases consumed an unusual amount of time, hence the week's continuance.

The Fruit Crop.
It is yet too early in the season to form anything like a correct estimate of what Christian county's apple crop will be, as trees that two weeks ago were full of young apples have already lost fifty per cent. of them. In some localities there will probably be half a crop of apples and one-fourth crop of peaches. Late cherries in some parts of the county will come up to nearly an average crop. Plums generally are a failure. The strawberry yield, especially in the city, was short. What we lost in strawberries we will gain in blackberries, as the prospect is most promising.

The State Commissioner in his report places the quantity of apples compared with that of last year at 58 per cent., and peaches at 34 per cent. in the state. The grape crop in this county will probably reach an average per cent. The Commissioner's report puts the yield in the state at 90 per cent. of that of last year.

THE YANKEE SPIRIT.
How Little George Proved That He Feared It to Be a Marked Being.

Now and then one hears more or less discussion as to what constitutes "the Yankee spirit," but like many other common phrases this one seems to elude the efforts of the dictioneer and to be always in the air. The one thing always agreed upon is that to be a real Yankee one must be good at a bargain, and if this is not very definite it is at least something.

There is a small boy in the neighborhood of Boston whose mother's English while his father is a New Englander. The parents have often laughingly debated whether the lad was or was not a genuine Yankee, but it was only on the day after last Christmas that they were able to agree in the matter.

On that day the boy was for some time missing, and the whole family became much alarmed about him. The servants were sent to the neighbors, the house was thoroughly searched, the well looked into, and, as a last resort, the policeman of the village was called upon to aid in discovering the truant.

When matters had gone as far as this the boy himself was seen walking across the lawn in a dragged and evidently exhausted condition, but waving his hand with an air of triumph.

"I got thirty cents, mamma!" he shouted, as his anxious mother came hastening out to meet him.

"Thirty cents?" she repeated in astonishment. "How did you get thirty cents?"

"Why, with my organ, of course," he answered, and he showed her, strapped upon his back, a tiny hand-organ which had been among his Christmas gifts. "I've been playing way down to the other end of town."

The English mother looked at the eager little fellow, followed by a desire to laugh at the droll situation, the feeling that she should reprove the runaway, and the relief she felt at seeing the little fellow safe.

"George," she said, turning to her husband, who had come up to her, "hear his son's words, 'you are right, he is a born Yankee.'—Youth's Companion.

Use of the Divining Rod.
The divining-rod as a means of finding a good supply of water stands a successful trial recently at Oundle, Northamptonshire. W. Todd, a landowner, requiring a well on a portion of his property, sent for a "diviner" named Pearson. There had been considerable difficulty in obtaining a supply of water in the town, and the Oundle commissioners had spent $400 in trial borings, conducted by a professional man, which proved futile. In the presence of a number of spectators, Pearson, with the usual Y-shaped hazel twig, walked over the estate. In several places the twig was visibly agitated, but the "diviner" kept on until the twig almost bent itself double in his hands. At this spot a well was sunk, with the result that seventeen feet of water was found in such abundance that it rapidly rose to within three feet of the surface, at which height it has since remained. During the making of the well the water percolated into it so rapidly that as frequent intervals had to be suspended to pump out the water.
